

GLENWOOD, MARYLAND - OCTOBER 26, 2011 - The Seacoast United Soccer Club, based in Hampton, New Hampshire, has formed an international travel partnership with Excel International Sports, based in Central Maryland. The goal of this new partnership is to promote international travel as an opportunity for the players of Seacoast United.

Seacoast United Soccer Club has formed this partnership to add to its growing list of programs designed to enhance the performance of their teams, coaches and players. "The experience I had as a youngster traveling abroad with my team was an unforgettable one and ultimately had a huge impact on my wanting to go to college in America", said, Paul Willis, Founder of Seacoast United. "In addition to teams travelling abroad, we are delighted to offer the Club's 'Taste of English Football' Fan Trips through Excel Travel and the February and March 2012 trips are open to families and friends connected to Seacoast United".

Excel International Sports brings with it 13 years of experience in organizing international friendly, tournament and developmental tours for youth, ODP, high school and college teams. Excel International Sports specializes in custom tours, tailoring every aspect – from accommodation to transportation and sightseeing to games and training – to fit the team's specific needs.

"We are delighted to have partnered with one of the most forward thinking youth soccer clubs in the country and look forward to working with Paul Willis and his excellent staff on providing once-in-a-lifetime opportunities to the players, families and staff of Seacoast United Soccer Club", said Eric McAleer, Managing Director of Excel International Sports.
